

2008 Show Chair Message

Our state show is literally right round the corner. We are busy finalizing all the things that are needed to put on a show of this size. We are still excited that the show has come to northern Indiana, and we hope that those thinking that as they might not make the trip, I hope that you will reconsider. The show is virtually another one and a half hours further north than when it was in Kokomo, right off of Highway 31 in South Bend. South Bend has opened their arms to our society, and we hope that we can also open their minds to our passion, the gourd.

Along with an auction both Saturday and Sunday, we will be having two art raffles. One is our own, with some of our membership's pieces; the other is from high school students who will have created their own pieces of art. As all of us know, the children are the future of any society, and we are trying to get them involved. We also will have a class of 4th graders who will have pieces in competition.

Remember also, that we will be having an adult and a child's treasure hunt on Sunday. Anyone participating will have to put on their thinking caps, and find the treasures. We will start at the opening of the treasure hunt Sunday., and it will end when the first ones find all the clues to the treasure's quest.

And I personally always look forward to the pieces that are in competition. We have a lot of creative people that work wonders with the gourd, and I admire their originality, and imagination.

I would like to invite all to come to South Bend, and enjoy the fun the gourd fellowship brings.

Show Chair: Renee Meyers

Requirements for Accessing the 2008 JGS Show

Everyone who expects to work at the show must pick up their badges for free entry before noon on Friday. For those people who are taking classes later in the weekend, they are being contacted to receive pass information. Anyone working at the show who does not pick up their packet by noon on Friday, or make other arrangements will pay gate admission. The gates are just off the roadway and no one will be allowed to enter without a pass after noon on Friday, April 4th, 2008.

2008 JGS Show Workshops

Hello everyone. The days are passing quickly and our Spring Show at the St Joseph County fairgrounds will be here soon. Our classes are filling up so if there is a special class that you would like to take, don't wait too much longer. We appreciate the response that we have gotten for the workshops. There are still some opportunities to be a helper at some of the classes. Please contact me if you are interested. This is a good opportunity to learn something new without the expense.

Accessing, Downloading, & Viewing The Tendril - Ten Easy Steps

1. PRINT THESE INSTRUCTIONS and then GO TO the IGS Web Page by copying the link below into your Browser's URL field. <http://www.indianagourdsociety.org/>
  2. Now you can go to the "MemberLogin" on the left side of the home page, second item down on the Nav Bar, then enter your userID and password, from the label on a recent issue of "The Tendril" then click "Submit". Your info will look something like this - ID: 1234 (Member ID) P/W: 56789 (your Zip Code). That area is not locked yet, so leaving both blank will also work, but, you should begin using the ID & P/W as the area will be closed to members only soon.
  3. Once logged in you may click on and download the current edition of The Tendril. You may also view the ARCHIVES shown in the upper right corner of this window.
  4. A new page will appear and show the CURRENT Tendril's Front Page as an ICON and all the separate pages listed to the right side of that. If you simply click on the Icon or any of the individual pages you can read these on-line. If you prefer to DOWNLOAD the files go to Step #5.
  5. If you Right-Click on the front page icon ALL pages will download when you select "Save Target As" from the pop-up menu. IF you click on one of the pages to the right of that front page, ONLY the page you Right-click on will be saved when you select the "Save Target As" from the pop-up menu.
  6. Once the files are on your Desktop you should be able to double-click the Icon and have the file open with the Adobe READER application. If that doesn't happen, go to Step #7.
  7. At the bottom of the page where you see the Front Page Icon there is an Adobe Reader DOWNLOAD Button. Click on that Button.
  8. You will be taken to the Adobe Reader Download page. On the bottom of that page is a Gold colored DOWNLOAD Button. Click on that Button. You may need to click the Gold Bar at the top of the Browser window to allow the download to progress.
  9. SAVE the application to your Desktop. Once Saved, go to the Desktop and double-click the large Red & White ADOBE icon to start the installation. Follow on-screen instructions.
  10. Once the installation is completed you will be able to open the Downloaded PDF file containing The Tendril.
- You may be prompted occasionally to UPDATE the Adobe Acrobat READER. Allow this to happen.

STATE Fair Information

Fair Dates: August 6th – 17th. Setup Day will be Sunday, August 03, 2008 starting at 9:00 AM.

All we can tell you about the State Fair so far is that Phil Moorhead and Jesse Glessner will be co-chairing the event again this year, that we need lots of both participants and volunteers, and that you should be clicking on the following links to find forms and information about registration. The data is currently missing, but check often at the State Fair Web Site at <http://www.in.gov/statefair/fair/index.html> and click on the Competitive Exhibitors Button on the Nav Bar.

We would like to have lots of exhibitors this year. We had several registered last year but only about half of those actually brought their gourds in for competition and display. We do appreciate everyone's efforts to get them there.

We also need lots of volunteers both for general help and demonstrations again this year. The demonstrations in particular attract many people to the booth. Volunteers get a free gate pass and parking pass for the days that they help out. Of course you also get to visit the fairgrounds before or after your volunteer times.

Phil/Jesse

Gourd Patch #4 Events

Gourd Patch 4 will have a booth at Purdue Spring Test April 12 and 13. Volunteers are needed to talk to visitors about gourd growing and crafting. Gourd seeds will be sold at this event.

Gourd Patch 4 will have a booth at the Tippecanoe County Garden Expo at the Tippecanoe County Fairgrounds on April 26. Gourd seeds will be sold and volunteers are needed to demonstrate cleaning gourds for crafting. Some space will be available to sell crafted gourds made by Indiana Gourd Society members.

GROWING, CURING, CLEANING AND CRAFTING GOURDS By Jim Story WHY GROW GOURDS?

Gourds are one of the world's most versatile plants. The many shapes and sizes of the fruits, lightness when cured (dried), their lasting qualities, and the many utilitarian purposes make the gourd a favorite of gardeners and craftsmen worldwide. Dried gourds have been made into bowls, storage containers, dippers, birdhouses, vases, pitchers, dolls, musical instruments (gourds are excellent resonators), lamps, jewelry, birds, animals, reptiles, insects, wreaths, wall hangings, Christmas ornaments, contrived flowers, caricatures

A GOURD BY ANY OTHER

by Helen Parker

A bottle or a jug;
A kettle or Canteen;
Is it round and fat?
Or short and flat?
A birdhouse! Could be just that.
We'll have to wait and see.
A dipper will make a sipper if it
Hangs from a tree.
But if it creeps a crooked mile,
Pushing ball along the ground,
Is it still a dipper?
Or just deformed and doomed?
Could be.
But beauty is as beauty sees.
A creative lady adds a bloom,
Drapes a vine.
Viola! Ugliness becomes divine.
Did you ever eat a snake?!
Lagenaria longissima is edible!
I find that hard to take.
Let it grow and curl around

All summer on the ground.
Or hang it high and keep it straight
So that you can make ....
A baton to wave around.
A monkey or a swan?
A dolphin with a spine?
A maranka with low ridges
Makes a grower pine.
A pear will make a bell.
An apple or an orange?
When you scrape them down to shell,
It's really hard to tell.
An egg could fool a chicken
Or help to darn a sock.
Have you cleaned very many?
It's like scraping on a rock!
A crown of thorns is hard to clean.
A finger gourd? Sounds obscene.
Ten Commandments? Here is one.
Sell it green!
A gourd by any other name
No matter what its shape or use
Will always be the same.
Cucurbita pepo ovifera or
Lagenaria siceraria
Will always be the proper name.

Photographing Your Gourds

We ran an article some time ago in the Tendril about how to photograph your gourd artwork for best results. Recently I ran across another very good article on this same subject. The article by well know gourd artist, Bonnie Gibson, is located in the lower half of the third section of the Navigation Bar on her Web Site at <http://arizonagourds.com/>. Remember, shiny surfaces will tend to reflect glare directly into the lens, so you may want to use multiple methods to enhance your work. ENJOY! Jesse

Growing Gourds In the City

If you don't have a large space the garden stores have half-barrels for $30 that should make a good container for you. Gourds love to climb but anything you put up should be strongly secured as green gourds may be very heavy depending on the variety. Have FUN! Give your hubby a hobby! These are fascinating plants to watch and they do grow rapidly once they get started. Jesse

President's Message

It's that time! Our state show is upon us. As I write this I am sure everyone has figured out that the show is moving to South Bend. A new facility has caused new situations that didn't exist in the past, along with new wrinkles to old situations. Renee Meyers and her committee are busy taking care of all these situations as they appear. The South Bend area appears to be very receptive to the IGS moving our show to their town. Our show committee is working this receptiveness as much as possible and cautiously optimistic about a very good turn out. One special bonus is that Congressman Joe Donnelly has committed to a ribbon cutting ceremony on Friday afternoon. We are hopeful that the effects of that by itself will draw some attention from the community. There will be other changes to the show also, as the committee tries to save the best of the past while putting a fresh new look on the show. One obvious change will be an increase in youth presence. I hope all members will check out the new facility while still enjoying the same great gourd fellowship.

Another thing that will not change is that our state show will be followed by our Spring Membership meeting. This will be May 3rd at the Miami County Fairgrounds, in Peru. This meeting annually is the elections of new officers. Ruth Moorhead has been appointed as nominating committee chairperson, and will be assisted by Ray Nixon and me. The three of us will be circulating around during the state show. If anyone wishes to have their name added to the ballot, or just ask questions, please feel free to look us up. I again encourage everyone to consider serving your society with a term on the executive board.

With this election, will be the end of my term as your President. It has been a rewarding time. While there were at times struggles, and issues to be dealt with, the rewards were many. I am aware that not all change is well received; however, I feel changes made during my presidency will help ensure the longevity of the IGS. I appreciate all who have come forward to volunteer and accept new responsibilities, and I appreciate all who have served on the Executive Board during the four years. While I intend to take a step back for a while, my passion for gourds continues strong and I will not disappear from sight. Thank you to all of those who have supported me.

Thank you, and happy gourdng,
Sid Meyers

Increasing Gourd Fruit Yield

The main vine runner should have the end pinched off when it is 8 to 10' long. This will cause the production of side runners. These side runners produce mostly female flowers which produce the gourd fruits. The main runner produces mostly male flowers. The 1st side runners can have the tips pinched off when 5 to 8 leaves are present. This, in turn, will produce more side runners [female] flowers.

To produce larger gourds hand-pollinate the 1st female flowers [use male flowers from the same plant for pure seed]. This causes a larger seed set which causes a larger fruit to contain the increased number of seeds. The use of 2 male blossoms per-female flower -is recommended for-plenty- of pollen. To produce smaller gourds, crowd the gourds into smaller space or do not thin the gourds as one normally would.

Remember, larger type hardshell gourd fruits not present till after the 1st of August, [central Indiana or north] may have thin shells or may not fully mature. Smaller varieties or ornamental gourds require shorter growing seasons than the larger types. Those types can be planted and often mature with only 80 to 100 days of growing season. The number of growing degree days will determine the results. 70 degree soil temperature is generally needed for good growth.

FUNGUS PROBLEMS?? I am no expert but what they have taught in Master Gardening is to clean up the area very well. Pick up all the leaves and vines from last year before tilling the area. You can buy fungicide sprays to spray the ground before you till. This will help but I do not think that it is a complete cure. Ray Nixon
